This is a fantastic book. It is beautifully illustrated and my one year old loves looking at it. It covers flowers (learning rose, lupin, cowslip, daisy, foxglove, pansy, orchid), herbs, trees and leaves, what is found in a greenhouse. The pages pull out and there are lots of different animals to spot.

Dried flowers have experienced something of a renaissance of late, and it's not difficult to see why. Since the world hunkered down at home, fashion and interiors have become more closely aligned than ever before, with outfits shot at home and mirrors/vases/sofas becoming the focal points of our OOTD snaps. Thus, dried flowers - displayed in chic AF vases (probably by Anissa Kermiche) - are ...
